

Auditor Winters Crosses Death's Dark River

END CAME THIS MORNING AT 8:15

Knights Templars Will Have Charge of the Funeral Services Monday Afternoon at 2 O'clock—Rev. Brewer Will Deliver the Sermon.

Many a heartstring twinged with pain Saturday morning when the distressing news spread over Coshocton county that Auditor Walter J. Winters had lost in his fight with death and had at 8:15 o'clock passed into the realms of immortality. Nothing sadder could be imaginable. That this noble young man, just at the zenith of his career, should have to be taken away from his loved ones, is sorrowful beyond measure. After struggling hard and winning in the battle of life, his cup of victory is dashed from his lips by death's unconquerable hand. His family is well-nigh crushed with the weight of the blow, which though not unexpected, comes with terrible weight. A whole county is bowed in sorrow for Walter Winters was of that sincere type of manhood which wins the love of all his fellows, even though he was unostentatious and somewhat retiring in his habits.

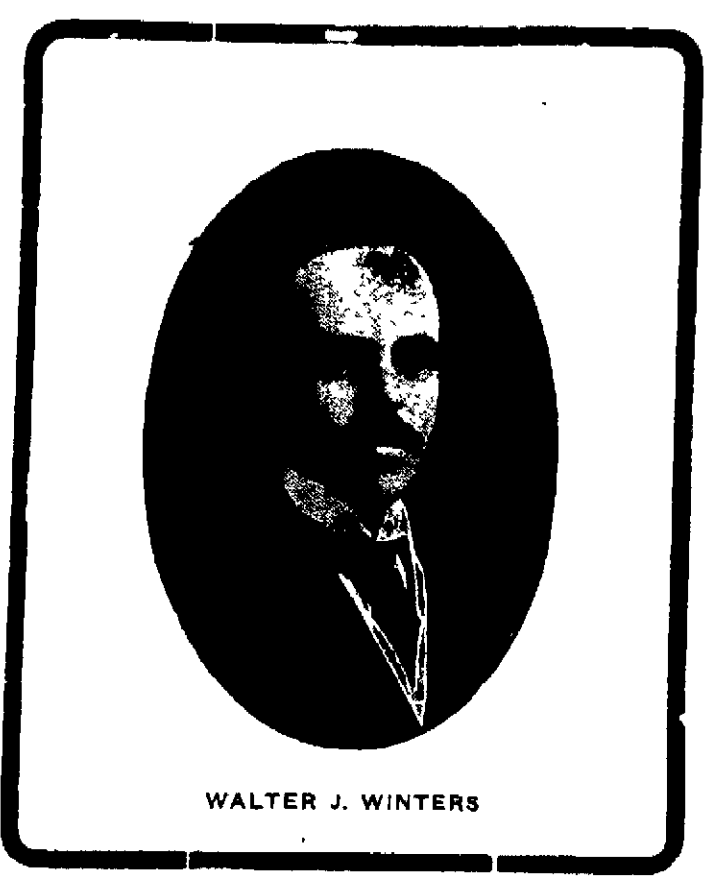

Friday night little change was noted in his condition and with the dawn of Saturday members of the family, who had been watching at his bedside through the long hours of the night, gave out the statement that he seemed to have rested quite a little easier during the latter half of the night. But close upon this encouraging news came the blighting announcement that the spark of life had been snuffed out and the soul had winged its flight into eternity. Not until then did the relatives and hundreds of friends of Walter Winters come to full realization of what a loss they had sustained. In spite of the fact that the attending physician held out little or no hope from the very beginning of the attack of gastritis last week, yet it was thought that there might be a change for the better and this frail hope has helped to sustain those who have been closely watching his condition.

Although the possessed lofty ambitions and a great amount of mental energy, Walter was not of a rugged physique. Ill health had been the spectre which had haunted his life and blocked his progress, causing him to cast aside a promising career as a banker in order that he might not be quite so closely confined indoors. He seemed to partially regain his strength and was thought to be in fairly good health. But the hard campaign for re-election sapped away his vitality and was followed by the collapse which ended in his death.

Walter J. Winters was born in Troy, N. Y. June 1, 1873, where the earliest years of his life were spent and where he secured his education. He attended the public schools in Troy and finished his business education in the Spencerian college in that city. In 1890 he came to Coshocton where he was employed as clerk in the drug store of W. M. Smith. During the administration of Jos. K. Johnson as postmaster Mr. Winters secured a position in the postoffice. After leaving this position he accepted one in the office of the late Frank C. Hay. He resigned this position to accept one in the Commercial bank. His rise in the banking business was rapid and when he resigned three years ago he held the position of assistant cashier.

He was elected to the office of county auditor in the fall of 1908 and resigned his position at the Commercial National bank the following fall when he entered the office. His political career was induced by his failing health which was thought to be due to too close confinement in the bank. He was a staunch republican and was one of the most faithful servants of the county. When he announced his name this fall for reelection to the office his election was conceded from the beginning of the campaign. He was elected by a large majority. He had served but a little over one year as auditor.

Mr. Winters was a member of the Masons and had taken the degree of Knight Templar. He had held all the offices in the Blue Lodge being Past Worthing Master. In the chapter of Royal Arch Masons he was Past High Priest and was past eminent.

BURKEY HOLDS RECORD AS BOARD BILL JUMPER

Lloyd Burkey, of Wild Turkey Lock, has acquired the reputation of being the champion board bill jumper of Coshocton county. It is alleged that he has jumped no less than four feed bills in Coshocton. Saturday morning a new one was filed in Squire Staats' court by R. B. Crouch. Two came to light Friday

WALKER OR SMITH MAY SUCCEED AUDITOR WINTERS

Although as a mark of respect to County Auditor Walter Winters, no official announcements will be made by the county commissioners of whom they will appoint to succeed Mr. Winters until after the funeral, the name of his successor is being awaited with much interest throughout the county. The office of auditor, it is stated, is the only one for which the commissioners have the power to appoint in case of vacancy.

The general opinion is that C. I. Walker, who was the Democratic candidate for auditor in the campaign which just closed, will be appointed to the office, the county commissioners being all democrats. Deputy Auditor Charles G. Smith, who has been a splendid assistant to Mr. Winters is also mentioned and some people have expressed the opinion that Mr. Smith will be appointed to serve at least the remainder of Auditor Winters' first term, which lasts several months yet.

NINE TURKEYS SERVED AT COUNTRY CLUB FEAST

Nine turkeys were cooked for the Thanksgiving supper at the Country Club Friday evening. One of the fowls weighed 22 pounds, it is said, before he left the farm. There was an abundance of meat for the 125 guests and everybody enjoyed a delightful evening, pedro being the favorite game. The hostess Mrs. D. O. Thompson, assisted by Mrs. Jesse McClain, Mrs. Warner Hay, Mrs. J. W. Preston, Mrs. R. N. Barnes, Mrs. C. H. Hunt, Mrs. F. V. Dutter, Mrs. S. H. Nicholas, Mrs. Seth Snyder and Mrs. E. W. Henke, succeeded in making everybody have a good time and Mrs. Thompson received many compliments upon her ability as a master of ceremonies. The club was tastefully decorated and looked very pretty. Among the out-of-town guests were: Miss Anna Slack, of Zanesville, Miss French Mizer, of Akron, Mrs. Clyde Wisenbarg of Cleveland, Miss Gladys Stevenson, of Cleveland, Mrs. Chas. and Mrs. Johnson of Newark, Mrs. M. W. Fribley, of New Philadelphia, Miss May Dever, of Cleveland, Mrs. Ida Gray and Mrs. Prescott Gray, of Adams Mills.

HORSES SCARED AT SHEET IRON NEST EGG IN FARM SCHOOL TREASURY

A team of horses belonging to W. S. Simon, of Willis Creek, took fright at the noise made by a sheet iron drum of a furnace being loaded into a wagon at the Wheeling freight station Saturday afternoon and ran away. The tongue of the wagon struck a telephone post at the corner of Hickory and Walnut and the team broke loose and continued out Hickory to Main where they were caught. The harness was broken into a shapeless mass.

Two Men Captured, Charged With Beating and Robbing Aged Woman Near Isleta

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR THE CAPTURE OF MADERO

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 26.—Openly charging General Francisco Madero with organizing the present disturbance, the Mexican government has offered a reward of $25,000 for him, dead or alive. In Mexican army circles the report is circulated that President Diaz will add a personal reward of $10,000 extra if Madero is captured alive. The report that he was wounded is not credited here.

With orders to take no prisoners and shoot all persons taking arms against the government, Mexican troops have literally strewn their marches with dead revolutionists and even innocent natives. In several houses in Puebla, Parral, San Antonio and other towns 10 and 15 dead bodies have been found where they fell when the troops shot into the buildings. On the roads leading to many places where the revolutionists were routed their dead are found where the soldiers pursued and shot them when fleeing. Officers of the army say there will be few if any arrests, even of known leaders, because when discovered they are certain to either try to escape or fight, and will be shot down. It is feared many soldiers have killed their personal enemies under the liberal orders issued them to shoot all revolutionists.

MOVEMENT IS SET BACK
General Reyes' Statement is Hard Blow to Revolutionists.
City of Mexico, Nov. 26.—General Reyes' statement, issued from Paris in regard to the revolutionary situation here, and in which he affirmed his loyalty to the administration of President Diaz and belittled the present uprising, was widely published in Mexico. It was wired by the government to all parts of the republic and orders given to the authorities of the different districts that the people be made acquainted with the statement.

It came as a telling blow to the ardor and hopes of the revolutionary leaders, who have been diligently circulating the report that Reyes was back of the present movement and was even on his way to Mexico to assume command of the revolutionary forces. General Reyes' statement makes it probable that the army will remain loyal to the present administration, no matter what the turn of events may be. It is the hope in high official circles that the stand which General Reyes has taken will cause a speedy dissolution of the armed bands that are still roving in some parts of the country.

The report is current that President Diaz will restore Reyes to his former position as minister of war when he enters upon his new administration Dec. 1.

Trago Brothers, Coal Miners, Traced by Bloodhounds to Their Shanty—Sheriff and Posse on Way to Coshocton With Prisoners.

Two men whose names are said to be Trago were captured between 11 and 12 o'clock in a shanty about half a mile away from the residence of Mrs. Schwab, near a coal mine on the Van Sickle farm, near the Low Gap school house, by a party of Oxford men with the aid of Wilson's two bloodhounds.

The hounds took the trail at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and after working for a few hours led the hunters to the shanty where the two Trago men "batched". The men were found in the shack. The doors were locked and the shanty surrounded by the party while Sheriff McDonald was summoned.

The sheriff and Prosecutor McDowell are on their way to Coshocton with the men as The Age goes to press.

Two men entered the home of Mrs. Margaret Schwab who lives alone in a little house three miles south of Isleta, sometime after midnight Saturday and robbed her of $100 in cash after they had beat her. The thieves overlooked a considerable sum of money which the old lady had concealed in the house. Mrs. Schwab was not seriously hurt. Sheriff McDonald and Prosecutor McDowell went up from Coshocton Saturday afternoon with Gail Hamilton in the latter's automobile.

A coal mine near the residence of Mrs. Schwab notified the authorities at Newcomerstown and two bloodhounds belonging to Wilson, a barber in Newcomerstown were taken to the place by a posse of Newcomerstown citizens. The scent was easily obtained from articles of clothing which the thieves had handled. At a late hour this afternoon no word has been received here from the party. Sheriff McDonald and Prosecutor McDowell were notified Saturday morning by telephone and they drove their way to Mr. Schwab's bedroom, to the scene of the robbery in Gail Hamilton's automobile.

Mrs. Schwab was only slightly injured by the thugs when one of them struck her with his open fist. She was unable to tell a very connected story to the authorities Saturday morning because of her intense excitement. It was discovered Saturday morning that Mrs. Schwab had a small fortune concealed in the house which the thieves overlooked, although the lady would not acknowledge it.

Your $100 For Example

Suppose you were to be handed a hundred dollar bill or the sale of a horse. Large bills are mighty awkward in making small purchases. The chances are your neighbor couldn't cash it, perhaps the merchant wouldn't care to. This bank would. Certainly.

But what about the change? Silver is heavy in the pocket, smaller bills must be changed yet again and too, they have a way of working out of the pocket unnoticed. A hundred dollars in cash can cause a lot of worry when it has to be constantly watched to avoid loss, error and theft.

It's different with a hundred dollar bank account. You write a check for the amount of your purchase. Simple, convenient. No risks.

When you make your next sale come to us. We will start you right—with a bank book and checks.

A MISTAKEN IDEA

Among the large number of persons is that glasses are only required for old age. Nearly one half of the children in schools have defects of the eyes, and no child should ever be permitted to enter school until the eyes were examined. Before the eyes are fully developed (from 4 to 9) properly fitting glasses will relieve the eye strain and allow the eyes to grow and develop perfectly, just as a plant will grow if properly cultivated. Eyes can never be restored when once injured. You should never allow traveling spec peddlers, or persons without years of experience, to together with a complete outfit of scientific instruments, to look at the eyes. Burns the optometrist, has had over 30 years experience, has all the best instruments used in eye work, and gives his entire time to the study of each individual case. All examinations free.

Accidentally Burned.
Miss Joe McManis, formerly of West Lafayette, who has been making her home in Coshocton, met with quite a serious accident not long ago. In stooping to open the gas range oven door the flames came out in her face, burning her very badly. It will be some time before she has entirely recovered, although the burns are beginning to heal very nicely. —Indicator.

Auditor Winters Died At 8:15

thought that he was seriously ill. He became worse gradually and Monday a physician was called in. Tuesday he began shivering and it was seen then there was little hope for his recovery. Since then he has sunk rapidly.

After midnight Friday he seemed to be resting easily and Saturday morning announcement was made that he was improving and hope grew. But almost simultaneously with this announcement came that of his death which has caused such widespread sorrow throughout the county. His end was peaceful and the spirit left without a struggle.

Beside the widow the father Jacob Winters of Newfane, N. Y., and one sister, Mrs. Guy Robinson of Cleveland survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the local commandery of Knights Templars in charge. Rev. Brewer, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon and interment will be made at South Lawn cemetery.

SEEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

Have you dyspepsia? If you have perhaps you want to get rid of it. You can by taking SEEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS. We do not print any pictures of before and after taking. You get them by standing before the looking glass. If you don't believe this, try the tablets and you will. We have proved that SEEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will cure dyspepsia over and over again. We are ready to demonstrate it in your case, and we will tell you how. Go to C. E. Anderson's drug store and get a package. Take it according to directions. If it cures you, step in and tell the druggist so. If it doesn't step in just the same, and tell him that, and he will hand you right back the ducats you paid him. Do you suppose this offer would be made if we had any doubts about what the tablets will do for you? Do you see any way that you can lose any money out of it? But if you really enjoy dyspepsia, and want to retain it permanently, let SEEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS alone, for the tablets won't let dyspepsia alone.

SATURDAY NIGHT SERMONS

BY
REV. SAMUEL W. PURVIS, D.D.

DO THEY "COME BACK?"
Text: "Let the shadow return backward."—1 Kings xii, 10.

A new term has come into our wonderful American phraseology, already rich with expressions from the "diamond," the "gridiron" and the "turf." Now from the "squared circle" comes another, a so called "come back." It is stated positively, like an axiom in geometry, that "they don't come back." That is, he-to quote a certain famous colored lady—that "brings home the bacon" must be one who hasn't had a defeat or hasn't been too long out of the game. To step out of line, or worse, to be pushed out, marks the beginning of the end. No rabbit's foot talisman can ward off the inevitable hour. From that time "the paths of glory" lead but to defeat.

Is It True?

Let's face the question bravely and sensibly. After one has reached the zenith of his powers and there comes a reverse, more or less serious, can he "come back?" Physically seldom or only for a time. For the fighter, the sprinter, the ball player, the athlete, the man who has had a breakdown (his friends tell him "vertigo," the doctor says "slight stroke"), the woman with nervous prostration, it's a mighty sobering thought—but you've touched your limit. You've caught sight of the day when you can't "come back." In that vague thing we call "success" can one "come back" after defeat or failure? Yes, frequently. Mark Twain did. And the business world is full of men who went down in defeat only to rise again to greater heights. But, mind you, I'm an optimist. Cold blooded statisticians say 75 per cent do not "come back." However, 25 do. You may be among them. In the moral world can one "come back?" Think God, yes. Not always into the society against which they have sinned, but into regard of right minded men and, most of all, into their own self respect. It is oft fashioned, it seems, to quote "Will the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return," but it is an eternal truth.

Is Defect Failure?

You cannot always measure a man by his defects. You must know what he makes of them. The injured osteo-turks his wound into a pearl. The young Jew David sits down amid howls of derision at his maiden speech in the house of commons. His answer is, "The day will come when you shall hear me!" Carlyle through many weary years, in poverty and pain, writes his first volume of "The French Revolution." He lends the precious manuscript to Stuart Mill, and Mill's servant lights the fire with it. In spite of his hardship and despair again he wrote the masterpiece of today. Milton is blind, Dante and Hugo exiles, Bunyan, Raleigh and Luther are in prison, Darwin and R. L. Stevenson are invalids. "Yes, but they all made good; they came back. Mr. President? True. But Robert E. Lee didn't. He surrenders his sword and the Army of Northern Virginia. Yet north and south say he is greater than if he had triumphed. Some men fight and win; others fight just as faithfully and lose. Many a splendid success is built upon a heroic failure. Up in the dungeon at Meinhofen there's a flash of steel in the shuddering light, and John the Baptist has failed only to succeed. Sunset at midday on Golgotha. A mangled body is hushed into a borrowed tomb, and the Man of Nazareth lies among the failures of time—only to succeed for eternity.

The Dial of Ahaz.

Well, when we are all done here, will there be another chance to "come back?" Is there somewhere in the spirit world where we have another opportunity? Can we take up the task slighted here? Will God turn back the universe and give us yesterday? No one seems to know. "It's not so complicated in the bond"—that is the Bible. There's no encouraging word from "that untravelled country from whose home no traveler has ever returned." Better not count on it. "As a tree falls so shall it lie." Each new morning is the surest chance to "come back." Sometimes your day may be prolonged. Once upon a time an ancient king named Hezekiah was sick, about to die. Prayer was offered for his recovery. In this courtyard, visible from his palace window, was the town clock, a great dial built by King Ahaz years before. As a sign of favor the answer the shadow was to go back ten degrees on the dial. At high noon some supreme light shone from the mercy seat like that shone "above the brightness of the sun" to Saul on the way to Damascus, rose on the other side of the dial of Ahaz, and Hezekiah had fifteen years added to his life. Nevertheless the end came eventually. But don't build on a miracle, brother. Your day may be near done. Morning, high sun, afternoon, shadows lengthening, gloom of sundown twilight and evening star—and after that, the dark. Yes, you may "come back" after that bad accident, "come back" after that fever, "the shadow (may) return backward" as you sit convalescing on the porch, but at the last you won't "come back."

"Now" is the day. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might, for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest."

A Handsome Hair Dressing But Easy to Do

STYLE B, SEE NOTE

Model and Instructions by MADAM LULA BUTLER
Principal, The Madam Butler School of Beautifying Arts, Detroit, Michigan.

Style B. The hair is waved on each side of the parting and over the crown of the head. The ends of the waved hair are then brought half way up between the nape of the neck and the crown of the head and arranged in puffs or ringlets. The main body of the hair is brought below the nape of the neck and braided into two braids. These braids are crossed and brought around the head. The curls of puffs are allowed to drop across the back. This arrangement is without the use of rats, frames or false hair.

To Have Beautiful Hair Use Newbro's Herpicide

No woman can afford to be indifferent to the appearance of her hair. A mass of nice snappy hair, becomingly dressed will add more in genuine good looks than a pretty face, or an expensive gown. Don't let the Dandruff Germ destroy your hair. If your hair is uneven, dead, dull and brittle and comes out by the handful every time you draw a comb through it, the germ is there. To kill that germ and check the loss of hair should be your first anxiety. Newbro's Herpicide will do this and at the same time put the hair and scalp in a sanitary condition. Herpicide appeals to those of greatest refinement on account of its exquisite odor, its purity and cleanliness. It contains no grease and does not stain or dye. There is nothing more dependable than this remarkable scalp prophylactic. This hair responds readily to a regular and intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide. Try it and see.

The Fortune Hunter

Novelized by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE From the Play of the Same Name by WINCHELL SMITH
Copyright 1910, by Winchell Smith and Louis Joseph Vance

"Wonder what Harry would say if he heard about that wonderful business ability thing. But what in thunder can we do to bring business to this bum joint?"

He raked his surroundings with a discouraged glance.

"Oh," he said thoughtfully, "it's the limit."

Five minutes later Ben Sperry found him in the same position, his head bent in perplexed reverie. Sperry had been traveling for Gresham & Jones, a wholesale drug house in Elmira, more years than he can remember. His friendship for Sam Graham, contracted during the days when Graham's was the drug store of Radville, has survived the decay of the business. He's a square, decent man, Sperry, and has wasted many an hour trying to persuade Sam to pay a little more attention to the business.

"Anything I can do for you?" chirped Duncan cheerfully, dropping off the counter as Sperry entered.

"No-o," said Sperry, "I just wanted to see old Sam. Is he upstairs?"

"No; Mr. Graham's not in at present," Duncan told him civilly.

Sperry wrinkled his brows over this problem. "You working here?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I'll be hanged!"

"Let us hope not," said Duncan pleasantly. He waited a moment, a little irritated. "Sure there's nothing I can do for you?"

"No-o," said Sperry slowly, struggling to comprehend. "Thank you just the same."

"Not at all," Duncan turned away.

"You see," Sperry pursued, "I don't buy from drug stores; I sell to 'em."

Duncan faced about with new interest in the man. "Yes?" he said encouragingly.

"My card," volunteered Sperry, fishing the slip of pasteboard from his

"I don't know. I've just come here. He'll be sorry to have missed you. I've just stepped out to wire your house together from the fact that it's in Elmira, he mentioned that town, not the firm name—for some straps."

"You don't mean it?" Sperry gasped.

"What's struck him all of a sudden? He ain't got any new stock for ten years, I reckon."

"Well, you see," Duncan explained artfully, "I've persuaded him in a way to try to make something out of the business here. We're going to do what we can, of course, in a small way at first."

Sperry wagged a dubious head. "I dunno," he considered. "Sam's a nice old duffer, but he ain't got no business sense and never had. You can see for yourself how he's let everything run to seed here. Sothern & Lee took all his trade years ago."

"Yes, I know. That's why he needs me," said Duncan brazenly. In his soul he remarked, "Oh, Lord!" in a tone of awe. His colossal impudence dazed even himself. "But don't you think he could get back some of the trade if the store was stocked up?"

"No doubt about that at all," Sperry averred; "he'd get the biggest part of it."

"You think so?"

"Sure of it. You see, everybody round here likes Sam, and Sothern & Lee have always been outsiders. They would swing to this shop in a minute just on account of that. Fact is, I wasted a lot of talk on our firm a couple of years ago trying to make our people give him some credit, but they couldn't see it. He owed them a bill then that was so old it had grown whiskers."

"And still owes it, I presume?"

"You bet he still owes it. Always will. It's so small that it ain't worth while suing for."

"Look here, Mr. Sperry, how much is this bill with the whiskers?"

"About $50, I think," said the traveling man, fumbling for his wallet. "I'm supposed to ask for payment every time I strike town, you know, so I always have it with me, but I haven't had the heart to say a word to Sam for a good long time. Here it is."

Duncan studied carefully the memorandum: "To Mds. as per bill rendered, $47.83." "I wonder," he murmured.

"Eh?" said Sperry.

"I was wondering. Suppose you were to tell four people that there's a young fellow here who'd like to give this store a boom. Say he wants a little credit because—because Mr. Graham won't let him put in any cash?"

"Not a bit of use," Sperry negatived. "I would myself, but the house—no."

"But suppose I pay this bill?"

"Pay it? You really mean that?"

"Certainly I mean it," Duncan produced the wad of bills which Kellogg had furnished him the night before his departure from New York. Thus far he had broken only one of the $500 gold certificates, and of that one he had the greater part left. Living is anything but expensive in Radville.

"I'm beginning to understand that I was cut out for an actor," he told his self as he thumbed the roll with a serious air and an assumed indifference, which permitted Sperry to estimate his size pretty accurately.

"That's quite a stack of chips you're carrying," Sperry observed.

Duncan's hand airily waived the remark into the limbo of the negligible.

"A trifle—a mere trifle," he said casually. "I don't generally carry much cash about me. Haven't for five years," he added irrepressibly. He extracted a fifty dollar certificate from the sheaf and handed it over. "I'll take a receipt, but you needn't mention this to Mr. Graham just now."

"No, certainly not," Sperry scrawled his signature to the bill.

"And about that line of credit?"

"Well, with this paid I guess you could have what you needed in moderation. Of course—"

"My name is Duncan—Nathaniel Duncan."

Sperry made a memorandum of it on the back of an envelope. "Any former business connections?"

"None that I care to speak about," Duncan confessed glumly.

Sperry's face lengthened. "No references?"

It took thought and after thought, but Duncan hit upon the solution at length. "Do you know L. J. Bartlett & Co., the brokers?"

"Do I know J. Pierpont Morgan?"

"Then that's all right. Tell your people to inquire of Harry Kellogg, the junior partner. He knows all about me."

Nothing the name. Sperry put away the envelope. "That's enough. If he says you're all right you can have anything you want." He consulted his watch. "It-m-m! Train to catch. But let's see. What do you need here?"

Duncan reviewed the empty shelves, his face glowing. "Pills," he said, with a laugh—"all kinds of pills and everything for a regular, sure enough drug store. Mr. Sperry, everything Sothern & Lee carry and a lot of attractive things they don't—small lots, you know, until I see what we can sell."

"I see. You leave it to me. I probably know what you need better than you do. I'll make out a list this afternoon and mail it tonight with instructions to ship it at the earliest possible moment."

"Eh—eh!" Duncan told him. "You do that and don't worry about our making good. I'm going to put all my time and energy into this proposition and—"

"Then you'll make good all right," Sperry assured him. "All anybody's got to do is look at you to see you're a good business man." He returned Duncan's pressure and picked up his sample case. "S'long," said he and left briskly, leaving Duncan speechless.

As if to assure himself of his sanity he put a hand to his brow and stroked it cautiously. "Heavens," he said and sought the support of the counter, "that's twice today I've been told that in the same place!"

"It's funny," he said, half dazed. "I never could have pulled that off for myself."

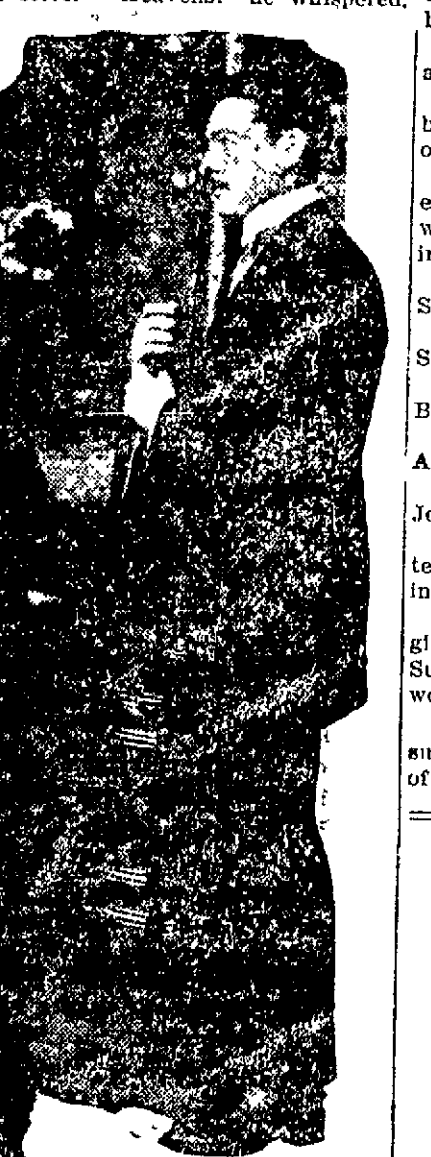

CHAPTER IX.

PRESENTLY Duncan moved and came out of his abstraction.

"I'd better get that broom," he said slowly. "The place certainly needs some expert manhandling before we get that new stock in."

He swept the floor, thrilled with the sensation of accomplishment.

Two shadows moved slowly athwart the windows. Straightening up, he looked, gasped and fled for the back of the store. "Heavens!" he whispered.

STRAIGHTENING UP, HE LOOKED, GASPED AND FLED.

aghast to recognize Josie Lockwood and Angie Tutbill, of whose ubiquitous shadows in his way he had been conscious so frequently within the past several days. "I thought I must have made an impression. Don't tell me they're coming in!"

Behind the counter he struggled furiously into his coat. "They are," he said, with a sinking heart, "and I'll bet a dollar my face is dirty!"

His bow was a very passable imitation of the real thing, he flattered himself, and there's no manner of doubt but that it flattered the two prettiest and most forward young women in Radville of that day.

"May I have the honor of waiting on you, ladies?" he inquired with all the suavity of an accomplished salesman.

FEEDING SCHOOL CHILDREN.
A staff of one hundred physicians and nurses are now doing regular duty among the pupils in the public schools of New York, looking after their health and cleanliness. The half-starved children coming from neglected tenement houses and homes of want are fed the opening of each school every day. And this is the work of one woman. Through her efforts these humane reforms have been put in operation in the schools of that great city. Margaret McMillan, one of the best authorities in England on school clinic as the foundation of education, is the woman -- an American birth but living in Scotland and England since early girlhood. She realized that a hungry child cannot be a good pupil, that to starve the child's body is to starve his mind as well and that physical health is necessary to mental growth and development, two plain, self-evident truths, left for a woman to put in operation in the greatest city on the American continent, which boasts of its enormous wealth and its schools as crowning glory. In Chicago a few days ago a similar movement was started. Lunch rooms are being established in six of the largest schools in the poorer districts. A simple fare of bread and butter and soup to be furnished children in the morning before school opens and at noon. A charge of 1 cent is to be made but no hungry child of the poor is to be turned away because lacking the penny. In connection with feeding children who come to school hungry, the girls are to be taught to set the tables and serve the food properly, a useful primary lesson in domestic science which every girl should know. Now all this is the result not of mere sentiment, not simply because of human sympathy, noble as that is, but more than that, because investigations have shown that the physical, mental and moral progress of thousands of children in our cities is being retarded for want of sufficient nourishing food to support their growing bodies. Reduced to its last analysis, the movement is one for better citizenship. A Sandusky mother in one of the clubs a few days ago remarked that while she was anxious to have her daughter be a good scholar, she did not propose it should be at the sacrifice of her daughter's physical strength and health. She put health first. A mother.

An Indianapolis councilman is about to introduce an ordinance to dress "giggling, gushing, garrulous girls" in theatres. Our hearts go in pity to the man. It is deliberate suicide.

The death of Walter J. Winters is a sorrow in which all Coshocton county joins. His sudden serious illness was a shock to his friends and the quick snuffing out of a life not only of great promise, but replete with good works is a matter of sadness. Walter Winters made good in every walk of life that he trod. Straight as a string, honest, courteous, the people of his home county came to know him well, in his capacity of county auditor, and they loved him. A young man that held the esteem and respect of every one, his life had been lived quietly, earnestly, seriously, without a blemish. He fought the good fight, and he kept the faith. Though called before his work was done he well earned the epitaph, "well done, thou good and faithful servant."

BLIND COMMISSION MAKES ANNUAL REPORT
Tells of Its Work During Year for Amelioration of Condition of Sightless.

In its annual report to Governor Harmon Wednesday, the Ohio commission for the blind, of which J. C. Fisher, of Coshocton, is a member, tells the progress being made in the movement for the prevention of needless blindness.

The commission has carried on its work of educating the public by means of the press, by circulars and by lectures with lantern slides. In co-operation with the state board of health a sample outfit of the accepted prophylactic for use at the time of the infant's birth has been sent to every medical man in the state and to registered nurses. A few drops of this preparation applied soon after birth is sufficient to prevent most cases of blindness.

This is the plan of the commission:

First—To continue a number of years educating the public for the saving of sight.

Second—To forward and initiate movements for the profitable employment of the sightless.

Third—To provide home teachers for those who in adult years have become blind, and so ameliorate their condition.

For this movement a competent superintendent is needed and funds enough to make his work effective. The legislature is asked to provide the necessary means.

AN ESCAPE IS FRUSTRATED

Saws and Knives Found on Prisoner in Solitary Cell.

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—While searching the cell of Ervin Johnson, who was placed in solitary some time ago, Deputy Warden Resch found two saws and two knives. An examination disclosed the fact that no attempt had been made to saw the bars, but it is thought that the prisoner was just preparing to make a dash for liberty when he was placed in solitary.

Following the discovery of the saws it was decided that he should remain in solitary for a few days longer. An "Oregon beet" will probably be put on him as soon as he returns to work in order to avoid any trouble with the little darkey.

Johnson was sent to the penitentiary from Richland county to serve 15 years for stabbing to wound the jailer in the Mansfield jail.

Mark Twain Once Said

"It is Spring Fever that causes the general unrest, lack of ambition and run-down condition which pervades the human system in the Spring of the year."

The sudden change from frigid to torrid weather occurs within a few weeks, especially in our northern states.

No wonder pulmonary troubles—pneumonia, spring fever, and all such ailments are almost universal.

If people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, promotes healthful sleep and a normal appetite.

Old people delicate children, run-down, overworked and tired women, those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds, all derive great benefit from its use.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. C. E. Anderson, 404 Main St., Coshocton, O.

HOLD HARRIMAN IN CRAFT CASE

Grand Jury Returns Four Indictments at Chicago—Three are Former Officials

Chicago, Nov. 26. The grand jury indicted four men, all charged with conspiracy to defraud the Illinois Central Railroad company out of $1,500,000. They were Frank B. Harriman, former general manager of the Illinois Central, who resigned March 15; John M. Taylor, former general storekeeper of the system, who resigned May 1; Charles E. Ewing, former general superintendent of northern lines, who resigned about July 1, and Joseph E. Baker, former superintendent of the car department, who resigned Feb. 1.

The indictments against the former officials of the Illinois Central, in addition to the general charge, also contain two counts charging a confidence game. The bonds of each of the men are set at $20,000.

The indictments are the outcome of the charges of "car repair" graft which have been before the courts for months. Baker, who escaped prosecution when arrests were first made in the municipal court here, was indicted with the three other men largely on the testimony of Henry Ostermann, president of the Ostermann Manufacturing company, which, with the names of the Blue Island Car and Equipment company, the Memphis Car company and the American Car and Equipment company, are mentioned in the indictments.

Ostermann Implicated Baker.

Ostermann testified before the grand jury that the money which his concern shared with Harriman and Taylor was given by him to Baker, who divided with the other Illinois Central officials.

The gist of the cases is that the men indicted charged up to the Illinois Central car repairs which were never made and, by collusion, defrauded the railroad to the amount of more than $1,500,000. The amount named in the indictments, $4,825,000, represents the total business the Illinois Central did with the four car repair concerns named since the summer of 1906, when the alleged scheme to "milk" the road is said to have been put in operation.

In the beginning of the probe of the charges in G. Ryan, official of the Rock Island railroad, was prominently mentioned. This fact resulted in the suicide of Ryan in his home.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS CRITICISED

Delegate to Waterways Convention Accuses Taft of Playing Favorite.

St. Louis, Nov. 26. Judging from indications on the floor of the convention hall here, where the Lake-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association is in session, delegates will unanimously indorse the 14-foot through the valley project, and not less than that. The project continued when Governor Deneen of Illinois mounted the platform and said that if the convention authorized the federal government they would gain nothing, and that the best thing to do was to await the decision of the federal investigating committee. This was followed by many cries from the delegates of "No, we know what we want. Give us 14 feet and nothing less." "Deneen favors not more than nine feet," and so on.

In his address Mr. Ravenagh bitterly scored President Taft, openly charging that he was not favorable to the idea proposed by the delegates, but was a booster for his own little old Ohio river. Ravenagh's remarks caused a demonstration the like of which has never before been equaled in the city, hats flying in the air, men shouting, whistling and cheering and women waving handkerchiefs.

For the steering gear of aeroplanes a flexible wire has been invented which consists of six strands of seven wires each, with a center of either cotton or wire.

Citizens of Kent, Portia county, have given a site of 92 acres close to the edge of the city.

One Suicide Prompts Another.
Warren, O., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Albert Best of Lordstown committed suicide in exactly the manner another Tumbull county woman had killed herself a few weeks ago. She tied a rope to which weights were attached around her neck and jumped into the elstern. The coroner thinks the second suicide was inspired by reading of the first in the newspapers.

Toledo, O., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Anna Gunn and Miss Amelia Shafer, attendants at the Toledo state hospital, were fatally burned at a masquerade ball at the institution. Dishonest Election Officials Given Fines and Prison Terms.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 26.—"Violation of election laws is next to murder in magnitude," declared Judge Staples here in imposing sentence on Samuel Hottig, James Moor and Richard Thomas of Warrior Run, who were found guilty and convicted recently of election frauds in the district in which they were members of the election board. The defendants were each fined $100 and costs and from six months to a year in the Eastern penitentiary.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c at C. E. Anderson's, Coshocton, and C. M. Ferguson's, Roscoe.

GENERAL POWELL IS GIVEN GOLD MEDAL

Friends Recognize Membership in the Ananias Club.

Columbus, O., Nov. 26.—An unique affair resulting from the late campaign was the dinner given here to General Thomas E. Powell, celebrating his admission into the Ananias club.

This resulted from his telegram to Theodore Roosevelt the day preceding Roosevelt's entry into Ohio to speak against Governor Harmon, advising him that the governor was the same Judson Harmon who, as special counsel, advised him to proceed against Paul Morton for rebating when he was a member of the Roosevelt cabinet, and who resigned when the administration failed to proceed, and originated the slogan, "Guilt is personal."

He asked why the president did not "lunch" Paul Morton when shown the way by Governor Harmon. Upon receipt of this telegram Roosevelt pronounced Powell a liar.

This consignment of General Powell to the Ananias club was provocative of much amusement throughout the state and crystallized in a dinner here, at which he was presented with a gold medal as the only resident Ohio member of the Ananias club, as Bollymy and Mrs. Storor now reside in Paris.

What is An Optometrist?

This is a new word coined to apply to a specialist, who devoted his entire time and energies in the practice of a single optical work.

A manufacturing optician is one who possesses mechanical knowledge of grinding lenses as called for in spectacles, telescopes, etc.

A dispensing optician sells glasses, etc. and should be able to determine the refractive power of any lens.

But an optometrist is fortified with the additional scientific knowledge of the laws of vision and organs of sight essential in the proper fitting of glasses.

An optometrist can examine the

JUDGE TAYLER DIES SUDDENLY

Stricken With Paralysis at Charity Entertainment—Jurist Rushed to Hospital

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—Federal Judge Robert W. Tayler of the northern district of Ohio died at 1:55 this morning in Lakeside hospital, a few hours after he had been stricken with paralysis while attending an entertainment given for the benefit of a local charity.

Judge Tayler and Mrs. Tayler were sitting far down in front of the big hall when he suddenly sank down into his seat. The attention of Drs. C. B. Parker and W. S. Kelley, who were near, was called to his condition, and they hurriedly got him into the rest room. Judge Tayler could hardly talk, but asked to be taken home. The physicians feared to do this and called an ambulance and had him removed to the hospital.

Judge Tayler was 58 years old today. He was born in Youngstown, but spent a great part of his life in Columbiana county, from which he went to congress for four terms. He was appointed federal judge in 1905, and has recently been mentioned for higher honors. In congress he conducted the contest over the seating of Brigham H. Roberts, representative from Utah.

Judge Tayler's work as arbitrator of the Cleveland traction muddle with other duties forced him to work very hard during the past year and a half, and his death is no doubt due to a nervous breakdown.

BAKERSVILLE

BAKERSVILLE, Nov. 26.—It is said that Mr. Zimmerman, west of town, has bought about 600 turkeys last week.

Fred Barrick of Pittsburgh, Pa., spent Friday at M. R. Miller's.

Fred is a hunter and shot sixteen rabbits in two days.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. Morrison and Mrs. Cline in last week's paper was a mistake. We have since learned that the report is untrue.

Wm. Bixler of Baltic visited Sunday at Samuel Geese's and at M. R. Miller's. William has just returned from a trip to Missouri and has much to say about the west.

Mrs. Doru VanOstran of the northern part of the state spent several days last week with her mother, Mrs. Nancy Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barrick and son started for their home in Pittsburgh, Pa., the first of the week, after spending several weeks here.

Mrs. Henry Cline, formerly a resident of this community, died at her home at Beach City and was brought to this place for burial, Tuesday. Paralysis was the cause of her death. Mr. Cline has been sick and was unable to attend the funeral. Mrs. Cline's maiden name was Adeline Hyland. She was sixty-eight years old and leaves a husband and three children, and a number of grandchildren, to mourn the loss of a dear mother. The members of the family have the sympathy of their many friends here in the sad bereavement.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

PERFECTION
OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless

Is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

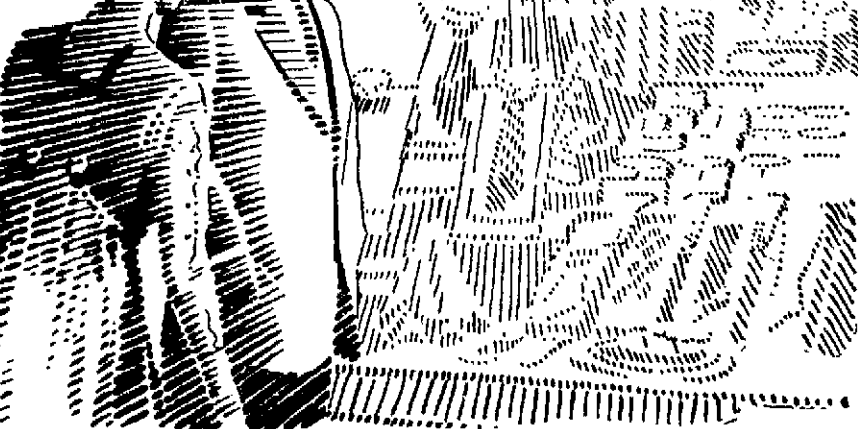

It has an automatic flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Daylight Window Displays at Night

"Yes, it's wonderful the way window displays can be made under the pure white rays of this new General Electric Mazda Lamp. Just notice how perfectly it accentuates every detail in fabrics. Matching goods under its white rays is easy, for it radiates a daylight effect. You will notice that progressive stores everywhere are using these G-E Mazda Lamps, for aside from their vastly superior quality of light they give nearly three times as much candle-power as the ordinary carbon incandescent lamps. And they cost no more to operate. This G-E Mazda is a most ingenious invention; it is simply revolutionizing lighting methods. Notice how greatly it improves the appearance of all the live stores along this street."

"Traffic is always determined by the way a street is lighted, and that's why the night window gazers (and next morning buyers) are irresistibly drawn to stores using these beaming G-E Mazda Lamps."

We want you to come in for a moment today and let us prove to your entire satisfaction that if you are not using electric light—and the wonderful G-E Mazda Lamp—you are losing money and denying yourself comfort and convenience. We can prove this to you.

FALLING HAIR

Easy to Stop it and Make it Lustrous and Beautiful.

If your hair is falling out, or if you have dull unattractive hair, or if you need a daily hair dressing, read what Mrs. Hettie Hedgeman of Nelsonville, Erie county, Ohio, writes June 3, 1910 about Parisian Sage.

"I used Parisian Sage for falling hair and find it the finest thing I ever heard of. My hair was falling out by combs full, and I could run my fingers through it and they would hang full of loose hair. I washed my hair and got a bottle of Parisian Sage and used two applications, and I could see a great difference. My hair was lustrous and nice and had almost stopped falling out, and by the use of one more bottle it stopped altogether."

For women, for men or for children Parisian Sage is without any doubt the finest preparation for the hair. It is guaranteed by C. E. Anderson to stop hair from falling; to eradicate dandruff and stop itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. It is a most delicately perfumed and refreshing hair dressing, free from grease or stickiness, and ought to be in every home where every member of the family could use it daily. Large bottle 50 cents at C. E. Anderson's and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

Interest begins immediately on the Certificates of Deposit issued by this bank.

This and the interest being payable six or twelve months from date of issue makes them a desirable investment.

SAYS QUININE WILL NOT BREAK A COLD OR CURE GRIPPE

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the Grippe symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs. It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dizziness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or Grippe.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

RECALLS CHARGE UP LOOKOUT MT. 48 YEARS AGO

Editor Daily Age
I wonder if the boys of the 80th, 51st and 97th regiments and others from Coshocton county remember that we went up Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain 48 years ago yesterday? Ben Stevenson now dead detailed myself and Jonathan Long shore and ten other corporals to guard the colors. Capt. John Kinney, of the color company, was killed, also his son and every one of the twelve corporals were killed or wounded or captured. I'm still living and am glad of it. Those were stirring days. The Democrats are in the saddle now. I wonder if they'll give us that dollar a day?

A COSHOCTON CASE

Many More Like It in Coshocton

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Coshocton. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

Mrs. Mary A. Deeds, 318 N. Fifth-st., Coshocton O. says "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint after I had about given up hope of ever being rid of the trouble. My health was all run down and I was subject to acute attacks of pain in my back and hips. When these spells came on, I had to stop work, in fact sometimes had to go to bed and when I was able to get up and around, I felt weak and nervous. That my kidneys were out of order was shown by the unnatural condition of the kidney secretions. Cold weather greatly aggravated my trouble and I also had symptoms of dropsy my feet and ankles swelling so badly that I could not wear my shoes. A friend, seeing my condition, advised a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills, as they had cured her of a similar complaint. I procured this remedy at Leggett & Williams' Drug Store and the contents of the first box brought wonderful relief. After that I steadily improved and soon every symptom of kidney complaint was removed from my system. I feel that I owe my life to Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given August 27, 1906.)

Re-Endorsement

Mrs. Deeds confirmed the above statement on May 3, 1909 and added: "I still feel that if it had not been for Doan's Kidney Pills I would not be alive today. This remedy cannot be given too much praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.
